EDUCATIONAL TELECONFERENCE

The transformation of the International Health Partnership (IHP+) into the International Health Partnership for UHC 2030 is on its way, with the vision to reducing global and country disparity in access to health. As part of this ongoing shift, the role and the structure of civil society within this multi stakeholder partnership needs to be thought through as civil society organizations (CSOs) will be fundamental in reaching UHC 2030 goals. In order to design the best engagement mechanism possible for civil society organizations, IHP+ CSO representatives and the IHP for UHC 2030 core team are seeking inputs from CSOs across regions and with health expertise about how the engagement should be structured.

We invite you to learn more about the initiative and the survey and exchange with the panellist engage in this process. You can either join the conversation in-person if you are planning to be in New York or via phone.
